

Caleb Chill | Biography

Caleb Chill is the Chief Executive Officer of OurCrowd.

Before being promoted to CEO, Cali served as Acting CEO and Chief Operating Officer from mid-2025. He was previously the company's Chief Investment Officer, overseeing all deal flow activity across startup and investment fund opportunities. Before that he served as Head of Investment Funds & Chief Legal Officer.

Cali joined OurCrowd after serving as general counsel for Jerusalem-based, Nasdaq-traded, Answers Corporation (Answers.com) between 2005 and 2011; and as general counsel for Saint Louis-based AFCV Holdings, LLC, a private equity backed fund invested in several technology companies, between 2012 and 2018.

His legal practice has focused mainly on handling general commercial transactions, overseeing public company compliance matters, leading mergers and acquisitions, managing due diligence processes, solving for IP protection, negotiating employment and executive compensation arrangements, and general handling of legal and business affairs faced by technology companies.

Cali has spent several years practicing corporate law in NYC and Saint-Louis. He completed a four-year LLB/MBA program at Bar Ilan University in 2000 and received a license to practice law in Israel and New York. He currently lives in Jerusalem with his wife and four children.
